

I Know I Miss You

N.G. Dian

Copyright © 2012 N.G. Dian
All rights reserved.

DEDICATION

To all my fans

On a dimly lit night I took a walk on the beach. I could feel the waves touch my toes calmly and warm. Twinkling of distant stars decorated the dark sky.

The golden full moon coloured the deep blue ocean. Warm breezes touched my hair gently. This romantic night knew exactly the way I felt.

I sat on a large stone on the right side of the beach, and made my little notebook computer set on the stone comfortably. I started an online session.

I found a beautiful email from him. It made me feel so important to him. And I replied to him just to let him know that I need him now.

My little fingers were dancing on my notebook's keyboard while my eyes glanced over the screen to make sure I typed with no spelling mistakes.

Love,

I got your beautiful email, so I decided to reply to you right away. I want to let you know that my love is real.

N.G. Dian

Love, distance never separates two hearts that really care. We may not get to hold each other all through the night as we like. But you are the one that I love, I know it from the deep in my heart.

This melody of my heart beat is letting you hear the way I feel to reassure you that I can not let you go. I miss your touch and I miss your kiss, but I am feeling you everyday.

Because I love you, I will be waiting for you here. You should know that I have dreamed last night. In my dream you and I were in the rose park. And you picked a red rose for me. With your love you put a red rose in my hair. My heart was blooming as bright and fully as the red roses in the park. Now I keep one of the red roses you gave to me in the park of my dreams.

Because I love you, I will not let you down as your girl, and I want to be your precious light for your life, and always be around.

I am hoping that you will come to see me soon. Love, I miss you so much tonight, witnessed by the waves of the deep blue ocean, by the golden moon and by the twinkling of the stars, and by the beat of my heart.

Love you.

Now I am feeling so warm and relaxed, after sending off my email to him.

A soft, comforting guitar melody whispered distantly from someone who played guitar under the coconut trees of the beach.

It sounded like he had a broken heart. Further along, there were some couples who spent their night together in the warm night of the beach air.

My Love is so far away beyond the sea. But our love does not fall apart. I believe that someday he will come for me because Time understands Love.

